Wrap-around services support recovery

Dale was homeless. An arrest led to hospitalization and eventual conditional release. When he was released from the state hospital almost a decade ago, Mosaic's Chesapeake Connections program provided Dale with the medication management, emergency housing, and counseling he needed to live in a city without friends or family.

Unlike traditional behavioral healthcare programs, Chesapeake Connections is part of Maryland's Total Patient Revenue program. This revolutionary program provides wrap-around services to not only support clients today, but ensure their long-term health and participation in the community.

For Dale, the wrap-around support has been life-changing. He lives in an apartment with two roommates, has a job, and monitors his own medication.

"Mosaic teaches you how to evolve into a productive person," Dale explains. "You still get to lead a happy life."

Longtime donors share their story

Neil and Dixie Leikach were introduced to Mosaic by clients who delivered medications for the pharmacy where Dixie worked many years ago. The clients were participants in Mosaic's vocational services program; she still gets excited when she reunites with them every year at Mosaic. The Leikachs own and operate Your Community Pharmacy whose locations in Catonsville and Finksburg service Mosaic's clients. They are trusted pharmacists, community pillars, and generous contributors to Mosaic Community Services.

For more than 10 years, Your Community Pharmacy has been a generous sponsor of Mosaic's annual campaign.

Neil and Dixie support Mosaic "because the organization makes a difference in a person's life," says Neil who feels it's all about community, building relationships and just doing the right thing.

"Mosaic helps clients gain the confidence and skills to manage their illness and advocate for themselves," offers Dixie, who met Neil while they were both students at the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy.

At his Catonsville location, Neil interacts with Mosaic clients on a daily basis and really knows them on a personal level.

"Neil takes the time to explain any issues there may be when it comes to a patient's insurance," explains Kim, a program coordinator in Mosaic's Catonsville location.

Our clients find Neil to be very personable. When asked why they like to go to the Your Community Pharmacy in Catonsville, Lucy summed it up best, "Mr. Neil is a wonderful man!"
